

Project Talent

Circular Innovation Programs

About us:

Innoboost is the innovation collective boosting the development and commercialization of circular economy solutions. To keep our world liveable and thriving and business blooming we'll take you on a co-creation journey, solving real business dilemmas one fact at a time. In small steps for big impact.

We have teams in Singapore, Utrecht, and Barcelona and serve many local and global clients.

We are looking for:

To accelerate the change towards the circular economy, Innoboost offers Innovation Programs to help speed up circular business creation while de-risking by constantly engaging and validating with customers.

We are looking for self-starters, proactive, committed, and entrepreneurial project managers to host these programs. To Innovate, Validate, and Co-create.

By nature, you are a:

- Project manager: you lead the project plan and are responsible for the deliverables as agreed with our customer, on quality within the budget and timing constraints. You are structured and a multitasker: being able to provide input on projects while keeping an eye on the outcome. Responsibilities:
 - Set up the project, including the support tools
 - Plan and prepare Co-create sessions
 - Assures the right input is available for smooth project flow
 - Summarise findings and feedback to the client as the next step
 - Capture impact and share learnings in the collective
 - Manages the customer experience (e.g., share pre-read, communicate agenda, evaluations)
- Communicator: you are good at building compelling stories to convince everyone around you, you like to present your ideas inspirationally, and are digital-savvy. You live our principles and circular economy thinking.

The office location will be our Circular Innovation Lab at the Hof van Cartesius in Utrecht, Netherlands.

In return, we offer you:

- A tremendous learning environment where you will work closely with an experienced team of innovation and sustainability professionals for great customers
- Work in a global team
- Contribute to 'create profit to be proud of'
- Much room for personal development and initiative
- Market conform salary

Innoboost is the innovation collective boosting the development and commercialization of circular economy solutions. To keep our world liveable and thriving and business blooming we'll take you on a co-creation journey, solving real business dilemmas one fact at a time.
In small steps for big impact.

Key requirements

- Education: Bachelor/ Master degree in Marketing, Business, Comms, Psychology or Innovation
- 3-5 years of work experience
- Strong communicator, digital savvy
- Pro-active, hands-on working attitude and ability to work in a diverse environment
- Excellent organizational skills, attention to detail, and ability to meet deadlines
- Fluent in English, conversant in Dutch is a plus
- Experience with working with and designing online collaboration tools like Teams, Miro, Google as well as services like SurveyMonkey, Mentimeter etc.

Has your interest been aroused? We are curious about you, so please send your resume and motivation to marjolein.oyen@innoboost-asia.com.

